Hello Coeus User:
You have received this email because your name is on our Coeus Listserv registry.

The JHU IT shop has automatically installed on some departmental computers a certain program, labeled “EMET”. If this program has been installed on your computer you will not be able to launch Coeus Premium. If EMET is on your computer, you will see this, or a similar error massage after a Premium launch attempt:

!Java Virtual Machine Launcher

ORIS recommends that every user who anticipates using Premium, should immediately attempt to launch it from their desktop icon.

If an error message is displayed that contains “Java virtual machine” wording you must contact your LAN IT Administrator to have EMET uninstalled from your computer.

In the meantime, CoeusLite is not effected by EMET. And, while Lite lacks certain functionality only available in Premium, it can be accessed at https://prcoeus.johnshopkins.edu/coeus/userAuthAction.do.

Regards,

ORIS
