Opportunity Summary:
The Conservation, Food and Health Foundation seeks to protect natural resources, improve the production and distribution of food, and promote public health in Asia, Africa, Latin America, and the Middle East. The foundation helps build the capacity of organizations and coalitions with grants that support research or improve the learning and generation of local solutions to complex problems. The foundation does not support the states of the former Soviet Union or former Eastern Bloc countries.

The foundation supports projects that demonstrate local leadership and promote professional development in the conservation, agricultural, and health sciences; develop the capacity of local organizations; and address a particular problem or question in the field. It prefers to support projects that address under-funded issues and geographic areas.

The Foundation supports projects in the following fields of interest:
- Conservation - Conservation grants help improve ecological and environmental conditions in low- and middle-income countries.
- Food - Food grants help research-based efforts to improve food and nutrition security and improve natural resources and ecosystems.
- Health - The foundation supports public health programs that focus on populations rather than individuals. It funds programs that emphasize disease prevention and health promotion over those that emphasize disease diagnosis, treatment, and care.

Eligibility & Requirements:
No limit on PI eligibility.

Please note: The average grant is approximately $20,000. Grants exceeding $30,000 are rarely awarded.
