Opportunity Summary
The Fulbright-Hays DDRA Fellowship program provides opportunities to doctoral candidates to engage in full-time dissertation research abroad in modern foreign languages and area studies. The program is designed to contribute to the development and improvement of the study of modern foreign languages and area studies in the United States. The “Competition Highlights“ include absolute, competitive preference and invitational (which doesn’t apply to JHU) priorities.

- The absolute priority is: A research project that focuses on one or more of the following geographic areas: Africa, East Asia, Southeast Asia and the Pacific Islands, South Asia, the Near East, Central and Eastern Europe and Eurasia, and the Western Hemisphere (excluding the United States and its territories).
- Competitive preference priority 1 is: Focus on Less Commonly Taught Languages (2 points). A research project that focuses on any modern foreign language except French, German, or Spanish.
- Competitive preference priority 2 is: Thematic Focus on Academic Fields (3 points). A research project conducted in the field of science, technology, engineering, mathematics, computer science, education (comparative or international), international development, political science, public health, or economics.

Eligibility & Requirements:
- See the FY 2018 DDRA Application Instructions for student eligibility requirements.
- Applicants that address Competitive Preference Priority 2 must intend to engage in full-time dissertation research abroad in modern foreign languages and area studies with a thematic focus on any one of the academic fields referenced above.

Internal Nomination Process:
All applications from JHU will be submitted centrally in one package to the U.S. Dept of Education but interested students are also required to submit an application via the G5 website: http://www.g5.gov
