Opportunity Summary:
The National Endowment for the Humanities offers the Dialogues on the Experience of War program as part of its current initiative, Standing Together: The Humanities and the Experience of War. The program supports the study and discussion of important humanities sources about war, in the belief that these sources can help U.S. military veterans and others think more deeply about the issues raised by war and military service. Although the program is primarily designed to reach military veterans, men and women in active service, military families, and interested members of the public may also participate.

The program awards grants that will support:
- the convening of at least two discussion programs for no fewer than fifteen participants; and
- the creation of a preparatory program to recruit and train program discussion leaders (NEH Discussion Leaders).

Discussion Program:
- must treat at least two historically distinct conflicts in depth: one from the earliest wars through World War I, and a second from the wars after World War I;
- must focus on the close study of sources drawn from at least two distinct genres (such as historical writings, military biographies, speeches and letters, philosophical writings, documentaries, fiction, and artworks); and
- must engage participants in sustained dialogue about the selected humanities sources and the issues that they raise.

Preparatory Training Program:
Applicants must create the preparatory training program and assemble a program team to develop it. The preparatory program should be designed to facilitate the discussions.
