Opportunity Summary:
This grant program, named after Ernest J Ring, MD, FSIR, the founder of SIR Foundation, is designed to provide support to junior interventional radiology faculty members early in their academic careers to allow time for the conduct of research. The goal of this program is to have grant recipients subsequently obtain additional funding from other sources.

Eligibility & Requirements:
- Must be a junior, full-time faculty member with a MD, DO, PhD or equivalent degree.
- Applications for non-Society of Interventional Radiology (SIR) members will be considered, but such applications are required to have significant input and involvement by an SIR member.
- Applicants must be within the first five (5) years of their initial faculty appointment and must not be recipients of major grant support (i.e., current grants exceeding $50,000). Applicants in residencies or fellowships are not eligible.
- Must be U.S. or Canadian citizen, or hold a permanent resident status. Permanent residents must submit documentation of their status. If an applicant is at an institution in the US and is on a visa, a letter from the department chair guaranteeing completion of the project will be required.
- It is expected that the applicant will have a minimum of 30% effort dedicated to research time.
- Applicant must have a mentor who will guide and supervise the proposed research. Mentor must hold a position at the assistant professor level or higher.
- Backing by the applicant’s chair is required and the applicant must have a mentor who will guide and supervise the proposed research.
- Only applicants holding a position up to and including the assistant professor level at the time of the applications are eligible.
