Opportunity Summary:
The Mary Kay Foundation, a funding source for cancer research, is currently accepting applications for innovative grants for translational research in ovarian, uterine, breast, or cervical cancer. Translational research is broadly defined as research that will provide a scientific link between laboratory research and the clinic. Ultimately, such research would lead to improvement in diagnosis, prognosis, prevention, or treatment of the cancer. The program will offer between ten to fifteen grants.

Eligibility & Requirements:
• Principal Investigator must be a full-time Assistant, Associate or Full-time Professor
• Principal Investigator must have a faculty appointment in the School of Medicine

Internal Nomination Process:
Interested applicants should complete their application at the following link:
